MERTING OF WORKINGMEN.—The workingmen of the city held a meeting at the Nail City Boat House on Saturday afternoon for consultation upon the movement recently instituted against the employment of convict labor where it comes into competition with the different trades. There was a pretty fair attendance, nearly all the prominent manufacturing establishments of the city being represented.

Mr. Wm. Travis was called to the chair, and stated the object of the meeting, after which the Secretary read the minutes of the meeting held the Saturday previous.

Mr. Jamse Peters, of the committee on hiring a hail, reported that they had secured the Nail City Boat Club Hall free of charge. MEETING OF WORKINGMEN.-The work

The Committee on Printing reported that they had had 200 petitions printed and had, according to instructions, scattered them as well as they were able throughout the city.

A suggestion was made that the movement be made general throughout the State. It was stated that the cigar makers had been obliged to discharge several of their employes on account of convicts being employed in their manufacture. On account of the meagreness of the attendance it was suggested that the next meeting be held in the evening, and on motion it was

The meeting was opened by the Vice President reading a portion of Scripture, after which Mr. John Westwood made a few remarks, reviewing the temperance work in this city for the past year. Mr. Alf. Burnett then took the stand and delivered an oloquent lecture on the subject of the "Moderate Drinker," and in his discourse he showed very plainly the danger of partaking of the social glass and of losing one's self-control. Mr. Burnett, assisted by his company, will give an entertainment in this hall to-night for the benefit of this Union. Admission 15 cents.

Wheeling Union held one of their pleasant and interesting meetings on Saturday evening. The meeting was opened by the singing of a hymn by the choir, after which Mr. Wincher read a portion of Scripture, and offered up a prayer. Speeches were made by Messra. Hiram Young, John Westwood, Morgan Gregg and G. W. Baggs. There were six signers to the pledge last week.

HE DIDN'T BITE.-Mr. Martin Thornton, of the Capital Dining Rooms, is a philanthropist in his way, and he is oc-casionally imposed upon by impecunious rascals. But he was too sharp for the paniantropies in his way, and he is ocasionally imposed upon by impecunious rascals. But he was too sharp for the fellow who tried it on Saturday last. A stranger called in and asked Martin to loan him several dollars, saying that had a good horse in the stable of an uptown hotel, but the proprietor wouldn't let him take the animal away until his feed was paid for, and the fellow being "dead broke" was unable to liquidate. Martin's sympathies were at once aroused, and he told the fellow that he would go with him to the hotel and pay the hill. The stranger objected to putting Martin to so much trouble, and endeavored to get the money from him on the spot. Martin insisted upon going to the hotel, and did so, and upon inquiry learned that his few acquaintance had the hotel, and did so, and upon inquir-learned that his few acquaintance had no horse there. The fellow claimed that he had made a mistake, and said he would just step across the street and see if the horse was not over there. He went —and he hasn't been seen since.

DEATH OF MARY E. STEVENS .- Man-DEATH OF MANY E. STEVENR.—Manger James Hamilton, who returned home from Columbus on Saturday evening, brings intelligence of the death of Mary E. Tomeroy.—To-night Miss Louise Pomeroy, supported by the Euclid Avenue Opera House Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, will appear at Washington Hall in Shakespeare's famous tragedy, "Macbeth." The lady comes to Wheeling a comparative stranger, yet her fame precedes her. The Toronto Leader says of her Lady Macbeth:

"The aleep-walking scene in Lady Macbeth, Miss Pomeroy rendered in such a manner as to hold her audience as if spell-bound; nor could the glamor of the representation be shaken off for some seconds, and then the plaudits which had been restrained under the influence of her realism, burst forth long and loud, but neither longer nor louder than were deserved. It was a master piece of acting, sufficient to establish her reputation for ever."

The completion of the Bellaire & Southwestern Railroad is to be wished for when we consider that thus far the road is paying running expenses with only a little over five miles of track. Of course every passenger is a purchaser of goods from some of our merchants, and when this road is completed to Woodsfield the number of passengers will be swelled accordingly, and money which is now going into hands of Barnesville merchants (and it is no inconsiderable sum, either) will find its way here. Mr. Morgan, the Manager, and Mr. Anderson, the Secretary, deserve commendation for their efforts to secure the completion of this road, and it is a good thing to know that they have so far been very successful in the prosecution of the work. The stockholders have come to the front nobly and helped the enterprise along when it seemed almost ready to fall through. "There's millions in it," and we trust the people will aid in every way they can to bring about the completion of this road.
